- Here are a few ways you can access thousands of free books online, using various devices.
 Ctrl+click the links in each box.
- For some, you may need to sign up for free accounts. You can use your school email address for this, if you wish.

There is something for everybody here! Why not try something completely new?

from a range of genres, including graphic novels, how-to guides, Shakespeare plays and Greek myths

Kindle App: can be downloaded to laptops/phones etc.
Thousands of free books and 99p daily deals

Many Books: 50,000 free books from all genres, including YA, classics, mystery etc.

Riveted: an online community for anyone that loves young adult fiction!
Check out the competitions, blog and quizzes.

Project Gutenberg: a library of 60,00 free eBooks. You could try the Mobile site via your phone.

Open Library: free to sign up and read/preview thousands of books. Look at the Student Library for texts aimed at your age group or challenge yourself by aiming high!

LibriVox: free audiobooks read by volunteers from around the world! Why not listen to a book read in a language you are learning?

International Children's Digital Library: fun to use;
play with the search
function to choose books with green covers, for example!

Read Print: You can read plays, poetry, non-fiction, fiction and more. You can write reviews, recommend to friends and add books to your own virtual bookshelf.