Dear Parents/Carers

Do you have the numeracy skills you need?

However you feel about maths, you're not alone. Lots of people find maths difficult and feel anxious working with numbers.

We want to be able to help parents boost their maths skills and help you to feel confident to support your children's numeracy learning.

That's why we have teamed up with the charity National Numeracy to offer you the chance to learn online using the National Numeracy Challenge.

The National Numeracy Challenge is a free and easy-to-use website you can use to improve your confidence with numbers and everyday maths skills.

Why not join thousands of people in the UK who have started their journey to improved numeracy and register by following this link.

We're excited to be working with the charity National Numeracy to help parents who want to boost their maths. Try out the National Numeracy Challenge.

The school is delighted to have been selected to work with the independent charity National Numeracy on an exciting project which encourages children and families to do maths together.

You don't have to be a maths expert to be able to support your children, but improving your own confidence with maths can help you feel more comfortable doing so.

We are offering all parents the chance to learn online with the National Numeracy Challenge.

The National Numeracy Challenge is a free and easy-to-use website that aims to help adults brush up without pressure on the numeracy skills which are needed in work and everyday life. Signing up gives you the chance to find out where your skills are, practise some of the things you find difficult and access online learning resources at the right level for you. Your activity on the National Numeracy Challenge is confidential and is not reported to the school.
